BIG SC ORDER

24-hr arrest deadline begins with detention

Supreme Court rejects distinction between arrest and detention periods

Press Trust Of India

NEW DELHI: In a significant judgement, the Supreme Court on Thursday ruled that the 24-hour constitutional deadline for producing an arrested person before a magistrate begins from the moment he is detained and not from the time the police formally makes the arrest.

Holding that there can be no artificial distinction between 'arrest' and 'detention' for the purpose of Article 22(2) of the Constitution, a bench of justices Ujjal Bhuyan and Atul S Chandurkar said any interpretation allowing the police to exclude the period of pre-arrest detention would be contrary to the constitutional mandate. "The prescription of 24 hours time period would commence the moment a person is detained by the arresting authority suspecting him to have committed an offence, when his liberty is effectively curtailed. To that extent, the words appearing in clause (2) of Article 22 i.e. 'arrested' and 'detained' are synonymous.

"Any attempt to draw an artificial distinction between 'arrest' and 'detention' would dilute or negate the fundamental protection guaranteed by the Constitution under clause (2) of Article 22. Such an endeavour should be avoided," the bench said.

The view that 24 hours begin only from the formal arrest is contrary to the constitutional mandate of Article 22(2) and Section 56 of the BNSS, the bench added. The top court also referred to custodial violence during investigations and said it was "worst violations of human rights" which take place during investigation when the police with a view to extract information or confession resorts to third degree methods.

"The endeavour of this court has always been to eliminate custodial violence which unfortunately takes place during the time when a person is under detention and not shown as formally arrested, in the process delaying production before the magistrate.

> Custodial violence unfortunate.
> Justice Ujjal Bhuyan, Supreme Court

Custodial violence is an unfortunate reality of our country and is judicially acknowledged."

The apex court's judgement came in an appeal by three accused persons who had challenged the denial of their bail plea by the Tripura High Court in connection with a case registered under various provisions of the NDPS Act.

In this case, the accused were taken into custody around 2.30 pm on September 29, 2025, when the investigating agency allegedly recovered 11.03 kg of methamphetamine tablets from them. The court noted that their arrest was recorded only at 11:15 am on September 30, 2025 and were brought before a magistrate at 4.45 pm on September 30, more than 24 hours after they were first detained.

The bench noted that the investigating agency had not explained the 18-hour gap between the conclusion of the search and seizure and the formal arrest.

"No explanation has been given for this delay of 18 hours. 18 hours in custody without judicial oversight is a long period with misuse and abuse of authority a clear possibility. Such a period certainly cannot be construed to be a reasonable period within the meaning of Section 58 BNSS (Section 57 CrPC)," the bench said.

The verdict said that the only period that can be excluded while computing the 24-hour deadline is the time reasonably required to travel from the place of arrest to the magistrate's court.

Chandrakar's custody to identify beneficiaries

Press Trust Of India

RAIPUR: The CBI has said that custodial interrogation of Saurabh Chandrakar, the alleged kingpin of the Rs 6,000-crore Mahadev betting app scam, is needed to identify Chhattisgarh public servants who allegedly received "protection money" to help the syndicate operate. A special court in Raipur on Wednesday granted the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) eight days of custody of Chandrakar, who was extradited from Oman on November 1, and allowed the agency to take him to Delhi for questioning. In its remand application submitted before the court, the CBI alleged that Chandrakar, along with other promoters and associates of Mahadev Book, secured the protection of police and administrative officials and influential political persons by regularly paying them huge amounts as "protection money". Hawala operators were used to arrange and distribute the illegal payments, while police officers and employees were also engaged to channel the protection money to police and administrative officials, the agency claimed. "The custodial interrogation of the accused is necessary to identify the other masterminds/beneficiaries of the fraud proceeds, to trace the channel through which fraudulently obtained money was collected, layered and routed out of India and to identify the assets created out of such proceeds of crime," it said in the application.

Chandrakar's interrogation was also required to identify public servants in Chhattisgarh who were allegedly receiving or had received illegal pecuniary benefits to allow the accused to run the Mahadev betting app syndicate, the CBI said. Investigations suggested that Chandrakar and Ravi Uppal, along with other associates, promoted the Mahadev Book App and operated online betting through a network of panel and branch operators, it said.

The promoters allegedly retained 70 to 80 per cent of the illegal earnings, while the remaining amount was distributed among panel operators, the agency said.

UPSC mains results

The Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) on Thursday declared the results of the civil services (main) examination 2026, with successful candidates qualifying for the personality test. The main examination was conducted from August 21 to 30, the commission said in a statement. The civil services examination is conducted annually in three stages -- preliminary, main and interview -- to select candidates for the Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Indian Foreign Service (IFS) and Indian Police Service (IPS) and other services. "Candidates declared successful in the civil services (main) examination have qualified for the personality test (interview)," a statement issued by the UPSC said. They will be required to produce original certificates supporting their eligibility and reservation claims, including those related to age, educational qualifications, community, economically weaker section (EWS) and Person with Benchmark Disability (PwBD), along with other documents such as the TA form, it said. The candidates have been advised to keep these documents ready for verification at the time of the interview, the commission said.

Government eases passport, visa norms for foreigners

Order streamlines cross-border travel and identification protocols.

NEW DELHI: The government has relaxed passport and visa rules for several categories of foreign nationals residing in the country, including certain Pakistani citizens, minority refugees, Sri Lankan Tamils, and Tibetans, according to a gazette notification.

The Immigration and Foreigners (Exemption) (Amendment) Order, 2026, published on Thursday, also streamlines travel and identification protocols for citizens of Nepal, Bhutan, and India travelling between these neighbouring nations. Under the amended rules released by the Union Home Ministry, Pakistani nationals who entered India on or before December 31, 2009, with the intention to reside permanently, are exempt from standard passport renewal requirements if they cannot renew their travel documents due to the non-possession of a Computerised National Identity Card (CNIC) issued by Pakistan.

To qualify, they must not have married while in Pakistan or acquired any immovable property there, must have left behind family members who are Indian citizens when going to Pakistan, and must undertake not to return to that country.

They must also have no adverse reports from police or security agencies, the notification said.

A third category covered by the exemption comprises people of Indian origin who acquired Malaysian or Singaporean citizenship and returned to India on or before December 31, 2009, on passports issued by those countries.

Court declares CG men's arrests illegal, orders release

Press Trust Of India

MUMBAI: A Mumbai court recently ordered the release of two Chhattisgarh residents in a cryptocurrency investment fraud case, declaring their arrest "illegal" as police did not follow mandatory procedures. The magistrate also directed that a copy of his order be forwarded to the concerned DCP for "information and necessary action" against the lapses by the investigating agency. While directing the release of the two men, the magistrate clarified that "if their arrest remains absolutely necessary", the police may take steps strictly in accordance with the law and Supreme Court guidelines.

Voter ID may replace aadhaar for welfare payments

Press Trust Of India

NEW DELHI: The Centre is considering a possible shift in the identification system for government welfare beneficiaries, with Union Minister Rajiv Ranjan Singh, popularly known as Lalan Singh, suggesting that voter ID cards may replace Aadhaar as the primary document for accessing welfare payments. The minister made the remarks while addressing the National Workshop on People's Plan Campaign 2026-27, organised by the Ministry of Panchayati Raj in New Delhi on October 30.

Pollution emerges as a silent killer

Press Trust Of India

MUMBAI: Air pollution is claiming nearly four lives every minute in India. That translates into more than 5,500 deaths a day and over two million deaths in a year, according to the State of Global Air 2025 report. The scale of the problem is particularly alarming as Delhi and several other parts of north India enter another winter pollution season. The national capital's air quality index (AQI) stood at 377 on November 4, placing it in the 'very poor' category, according to the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB).

- Air pollution is claiming nearly four lives every minute in India.

The figure was the highest recorded in Delhi in nearly 10 months. Several monitoring stations across the city had already slipped into the 'severe' category, raising concerns about the days ahead.

But the problem extends far beyond a few weeks of winter smog. Air pollution is a year-round public health crisis, with consequences that range from respiratory and cardiovascular diseases to reduced life expectancy.

Heavy rush in Raipur markets

Ahead of Dhanteras, Raipur markets witnessed a heavy rush, with frequent traffic jams reported at several locations on Thursday. Jewellery and electronics showrooms were crowded with customers making festive purchases.

Dhanteras sparks massive buying rush across markets

Automobile and bullion markets witness strong advance bookings.

Central Chronicle News

RAIPUR: Dhanteras is expected to generate business worth more than Rs 2,600 crore across Chhattisgarh, with the automobile and bullion sectors accounting for the bulk of festive purchases. Advance bookings worth approximately Rs 260 crore have already been recorded, indicating strong buying sentiment ahead of the festival.

According to preliminary market estimates, the automobile sector is expected to contribute around Rs 2,300 crore, while gold and silver sales in the bullion market are projected at Rs 225 crore. Of the advance bookings, vehicles account for nearly Rs 230 crore.

Vivek Garg, state president of the Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations (FADA), said customers were booking vehicles in advance and many had deposited around 10 per cent of the total cost. The bookings include 91,000 two-wheelers, 4,500 cars, 1,500 three-wheelers and 13,000 other vehicles. Customers are keen to take delivery on Dhanteras, prompting dealerships to ensure the availability of preferred models, colours and variants.

The bullion market is also witnessing considerable demand. In Raipur district, gold orders are estimated at Rs 150 crore and silver orders at Rs 75 crore.

Harakh Malu, former president of the Raipur Bullion Association, said customers were showing preference for gold and silver coins, Lakshmi-Ganesh idols, lightweight jewellery and traditional designs. Traders said the possibility of price increases in automobiles and precious metals was encouraging customers to finalise purchases at prevailing rates.

Advance bookings are also helping businesses manage inventory and ensure timely deliveries. With customers seeking purchases during the auspicious Dhanteras muhurat, automobile showrooms and jewellery establishments are gearing up for the final festive rush.

HIGHLIGHT

- Vehicles, gold and silver dominate purchases.

Utensil Market gears up for Dhanteras

Central Chronicle News

RAIPUR: The tradition of buying utensils on Dhanteras is expected to bring a festive rush to markets this year, with traders stocking up heavily ahead of November 7. Shops across Raipur and nearby cities are displaying a wide range of kitchenware and puja items, anticipating strong demand from customers. Steel plates, dinner sets, bowls, glasses, pressure cookers and kadhais remain popular among budget-conscious buyers. At the same time, brass, copper and bronze utensils, including lotas, plates and kalash, are attracting customers looking for traditional items for household use and religious rituals. Traders said buyers are increasingly purchasing complete utensil sets not only for personal use but also as gifts and for weddings and other celebrations.

Prices of steel, brass and bronze utensils have increased by around 15 to 20 percent compared with last year. Despite the rise, traders remain optimistic about sales, expecting a substantial increase in customer footfall on Dhanteras.

Recent rainfall caused by two consecutive weather systems affected the display of goods outside shops and temporarily reduced market movement. However, the weather is expected to improve from November 6, raising hopes of a strong shopping rush on November 7.

Consumers have been advised to check the thickness, weight and quality of steel utensils. Buyers of brass, copper and bronze items should verify metal purity and weight.

They should also check the contents of dinner sets, compare prices with weight and insist on a valid bill. Information about the utility and maintenance of utensils should also be considered before purchase.

Moksh Pradhan questions BJP's democracy campaign

Central Chronicle News

PITHORA: Congress leader and Zila Panchayat member Moksh Kumar Pradhan has questioned the BJP's 'Save Democracy, End Anarchy' campaign, asking why the party feels the need to launch such an initiative when it is in power at the Centre and in several states. He demanded that the BJP clarify whom it considers a threat to democracy and who is responsible for spreading anarchy.

Pradhan alleged that instead of addressing pressing public concerns such as inflation, unemployment, farmers' problems, youth employment and development, the BJP is focusing on political slogans and allegations to divert public attention. He emphasized that democracy is strengthened by respecting dissent, answering public questions and protecting the independence of constitutional institutions.

Referring to Rahul Gandhi's concerns about electoral transparency and constitutional institutions, Pradhan said the opposition has every democratic right to question government policies and raise issues affecting citizens.

He stressed that questioning the government, demanding employment, seeking fair prices for agricultural produce and protesting against inflation cannot be termed anarchy.

Special attention was mandated for Particularly Vulnerable Tribal Groups (PVTGs) residing in mining belts.

RAIPUR: Chhattisgarh Governor Ramen Deka has directed authorities to utilise District Mineral Foundation (DMF) funds for the comprehensive development of mining-affected areas and to elevate the standard of living of local residents. Emphasising sustainable development, the Governor stated that curbing environmental pollution must be the top priority, alongside dedicated efforts toward education, healthcare, and infrastructure development. He called for engaging environmental experts and adopting a campaign-mode approach to ecological conservation.

Addressing a high-level review meeting at Lok Bhavan regarding DMF operations, mining area development, and the roadmap for the next five years, Governor Deka instructed officials to formulate at least a two-year operational roadmap for the effective and systematic utilisation of funds. He stressed that industrial units in mining belts must strictly adhere to statutory environmental guidelines and emission standards. Emphasising riverine conservation, the Governor underlined that "if sand remains, water remains; and if water remains, sand remains." He mandated the adoption of eco-friendly, scientific methods for sand extraction and urged the launch of special drives to regulate operations.

District Collectors were instructed to maintain direct dialogue with local communities and consult public representatives while framing DMF action plans. The administration must clearly communicate feasibility to residents and hold regular review meetings to track project implementation. The Governor directed that development works in the Bastar region receive the highest priority under DMF. He underscored the need to extend state welfare schemes, social security, and rehabilitation assistance to individuals who have returned to the mainstream. Directives were issued to conduct dedicated medical camps and awareness programmes tailored to improve their healthcare access and overall lifestyle. Similar to the Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGS), DMF initiatives must focus on creating durable community assets, backed by rigorous physical verification to confirm that benefits reach the ground level.

During the meeting, Mineral Resources Department Secretary P. Dayanand briefed the Governor on ongoing projects, noting that the DMF Portal 2.0 provides transparent tracking and real-time monitoring of every sanctioned initiative across districts.

The meeting was attended by the Secretary to the Governor, Dr. C. R. Prasanna, senior officials of the Mineral Resources Department, and District Collectors from across mining-affected regions of the state.

Centre plans to launch coal, mineral exchanges soon: Reddy

Coal and mineral exchanges will provide a common trading platform for producers, buyers and traders, improving market access across states nationwide.

Press Trust Of India

PANAJI: Union minister G Kishan Reddy on Thursday said the Centre was planning to launch coal and mineral exchanges, with nearly 90 per cent of the preparatory work completed.

Addressing a conference of mining ministers in Goa, the Coal and Mines Minister said the proposed exchanges would provide a common platform for companies, enterprises and traders to purchase and sell coal and minerals produced across different states. The exchanges would cover minerals, such as iron ore, limestone, bauxite and critical minerals, besides coal, allowing producers to trade their output through a common mechanism. "Almost 90 per cent of the work on both -- the coal exchange and mineral exchange -- has been completed. We will start their operations soon," he said.

Reddy said differences in production costs and prices across states could influence purchasing decisions, with buyers naturally preferring minerals available at lower rates. "A common exchange platform would facilitate transactions and improve market access," he added. The minister urged states to work collectively to ensure that coal and mineral production from across the country is integrated into the proposed exchange system.

He also called upon state governments and public sector companies to explore both surface and underground coal gasification, describing them as important initiatives to reduce India's foreign exchange expenditure. Reddy said the first round of surface coal gasification auctions had been completed with incentives worth around Rs 8,500 crore, and projects had started moving forward at various locations.

Under the first phase of underground coal gasification, four coal blocks have been auctioned and work has commenced, while the second tranche of underground coal gasification blocks is also being put up for auction, he said.

Stay alert against cyber fraud during festive shopping

Press Trust Of India

NEW DELHI: With festive shopping and digital transactions gaining momentum, consumers are being advised to remain vigilant against cyber fraudsters exploiting attractive discounts, cashback offers and special deals to steal personal and banking information.

During the festive season, online and offline platforms roll out lucrative offers to attract customers. However, cybercriminals take advantage of shoppers' enthusiasm and tendency to make quick purchasing decisions through social engineering tactics and fraudulent links.

A little awareness and caution can help consumers ensure safe and secure digital transactions. Consumers should shop only through authorised websites and mobile applications. Fraudsters often create fake websites and links resembling genuine shopping platforms to collect sensitive information. People should avoid clicking on suspicious links or downloading attachments from unknown sources, even if they promise festive discounts or gifts. Another important precaution is to complete payments only through the official payment gateway of the shopping platform. Customers should avoid requests to transfer money through separate UPI IDs or unfamiliar payment links and verify seller details before making transactions.

People should also remain cautious about messages promising free vouchers, cashback and festive rewards. Such fraudulent offers may seek OTPs, bank account details or advance payments. Genuine promotional offers never require customers to disclose confidential banking information.

Sharing OTPs with unknown callers or individuals claiming to represent banks and payment applications should be strictly avoided. An OTP should be used only for transactions initiated by the account holder.

CAPITAL GAINS SCHEME

HDFC Bank offers Capital Gains Accounts Scheme deposits

MUMBAI: HDFC Bank has received government authorisation to offer deposits under the Capital Gains Accounts Scheme (CGAS), 1988, enabling taxpayers to earn interest while retaining tax benefits on their unutilised capital gains. Under the scheme, taxpayers who are unable to complete their reinvestment before the income tax return filing deadline can park their unutilised capital gains in savings accounts (Type A) or fixed deposits (Type B) for up to three years.

The facility will be available across the bank's urban and semi-urban branches, excluding rural branches. Resident Indians can avail the facility for capital gains arising from the transfer of residential properties, agricultural land and other capital assets.

It also covers certain industrial assets transferred through compulsory acquisition or relocated from urban areas to non-urban areas or Special Economic Zones (SEZs).

Key features include zero-balance savings accounts, nil transaction charges and quarterly interest payouts on both savings accounts and fixed deposits.

Q2 RESULTS

LG Electronics India's Q2 FY27 net profit rises 25.7 per cent

MUMBAI: LG Electronics India Limited (LGE India) has reported its highest year-on-year growth since listing in the second quarter of FY27, registering a 19.5% increase in revenue from operations to Rs 7,380 crore. The company also posted its second consecutive quarter of double-digit growth, reflecting strong demand across consumer electronics and home appliance segments.

Hong Ju Jeon, Managing Director of LG Electronics India, said the performance reflected rising consumer aspirations, increasing disposable incomes and growing demand for premium products.

He added that the company would continue focusing on its three-pillar strategy of Make-in-India, Make-for-India and Make-India-Global. The company's EBITDA rose 28% year-on-year to Rs 701 crore, while profit after tax (PAT) increased 25.7% to Rs 489 crore during the July-September quarter.

BULLION MARKET

Ahead of Dhanteras, gold prices climb Rs 2,200 to Rs 1.48 lakh/10gm

NEW DELHI: Gold prices extended the festive rally for a second day in the national capital on Thursday, rising by Rs 2,200 to Rs 1.48 lakh per 10 grams on buying by jewellers and retailers ahead of the Dhanteras festival.

The 99.9 per cent purity precious metal appreciated by Rs 2,200 to Rs 1,48,800 per 10 grams, inclusive of all taxes, from Wednesday's close of Rs 1,46,600 per 10 grams, according to the All India Sarafa Association. Silver prices also extended gains, climbing Rs 1,500 to Rs 1,94,500 per kg, inclusive of all taxes, from Rs 1,93,000 per kg in the preceding session.

Traders said bullion buying gathered pace as jewellers, retailers and stockists stepped up purchases ahead of Dhanteras on Friday, an auspicious occasion for buying precious metals, followed by Diwali on Sunday. Investment demand also supported buying interest, they added.

The festive-season rally comes against the backdrop of a sharp year-on-year rise in precious metal prices. On Dhanteras last year, celebrated on October 18, gold was priced at Rs 1,32,400 per 10 grams and silver at Rs 1.7 lakh per kg. Gold has gained around 13 per cent since then, with domestic prices moving in the Rs 1.40-1.48 lakh range, said Dhruv Joglekar, Assistant Fund Manager at Monarch PMS. The returns have comfortably outperformed typical-capital protection baselines in an highly volatile year, he added.

Rayagada Division promotes sustainable food system

Press Trust Of India

RAYAGADA: Rayagada Division of East Coast Railway continued its observance of BRICS Sustainable Lifestyle Week by organising an Awareness Drive on "Adopt Sustainable Food System" at various Railway Stations across its jurisdiction.

The campaign focused on promoting responsible food consumption, preventing food wastage and encouraging sustainable food practices among Railway Passengers, Catering Vendors, Rail Users and Railway Employees. Awareness activities were conducted through digital displays, posters near catering areas and food stalls, public announcements and direct interaction with passengers and vendors. Railway officials sensitised people about the importance of consuming food responsibly, avoiding unnecessary wastage and adopting environmentally sustainable food habits.

DRM/Rayagada, Amitabh Singhal, emphasised that adopting a Sustainable Food System is essential for environmental protection and responsible utilisation of natural resources. He appealed to railway employees, passengers and catering vendors to avoid food wastage, promote mindful consumption and collectively contribute towards building a cleaner and more sustainable environment.

Voluntary Exits Mask Growing Corporate Job Insecurity

The growing trend of voluntary exit schemes among global technology giants raises troubling questions about employment security, corporate responsibility and the future of human labour in an increasingly automated world. Meta has reportedly joined Microsoft and Google in offering employees attractive severance packages to leave their jobs voluntarily. Although these programmes appear more humane than abrupt layoffs, they also reflect a fundamental transformation in corporate employment practices. Meta's reported proposal in France could affect nearly one-third of its workforce there. Employees opting for departure may receive generous financial compensation, extended mobility leave and assistance with professional retraining. Such provisions certainly offer temporary relief, but they cannot eliminate the uncertainty surrounding future employment opportunities. The broader concern is that voluntary departures are becoming another instrument of workforce reduction. Companies enjoying enormous revenues and investing billions in artificial intelligence are simultaneously seeking to reduce their dependence on human employees. This contradiction deserves serious examination. Artificial intelligence undoubtedly promises greater efficiency, faster operations and substantial productivity gains. However, technological advancement should not become an excuse for treating experienced employees as disposable resources. Workers who contributed to corporate growth over many years deserve more than financial settlements when business priorities change. Moreover, the term 'voluntary' itself requires scrutiny. Employees facing organisational restructuring, uncertain career prospects and changing performance expectations may feel compelled to accept exit packages despite preferring continued employment. A decision made under such circumstances cannot always be considered entirely voluntary. The consequences extend beyond individual employees. Large-scale workforce reductions weaken consumer confidence, disrupt families and create anxiety among younger professionals entering the technology sector. They also raise questions about whether educational institutions can prepare graduates for an employment market undergoing rapid technological disruption. Governments must strengthen labour protections while encouraging companies to invest in reskilling, internal redeployment and meaningful career transitions. Corporate boards should also recognise that sustainable profitability depends upon maintaining public trust and employee confidence. Technology companies cannot celebrate artificial intelligence as humanity's greatest opportunity while overlooking its consequences for human livelihoods. Innovation and employment security need not be opposing objectives. Ultimately, the success of technological progress should be measured not merely through higher profits and reduced payrolls, but through its ability to create dignified, sustainable employment. Corporate efficiency must never come at the expense of human dignity.

Judicial scrutiny vital for Election Commission's independence

The Supreme Court's decision to examine the legal immunity granted to the Chief Election Commissioner and Election Commissioners raises an important constitutional question: Can institutional independence justify protection from judicial scrutiny? The controversy centres on Section 16 of the 2023 law governing the appointment and service conditions of Election Commissioners. The provision protects serving and former commissioners from civil and criminal proceedings concerning actions performed, or purportedly performed, during official duties. Petitioners argue that such protection creates an unusually broad, potentially lifelong immunity, even in cases involving allegations of misconduct or misuse of authority. Undoubtedly, Election Commissioners require safeguards against politically motivated litigation and external pressure. Their independence is essential for conducting free and fair elections. However, protecting legitimate official decisions must not become synonymous with eliminating accountability. The distinction between actions undertaken in good faith and those exceeding lawful authority deserves careful judicial examination. The government's justification must also receive consideration, particularly regarding the need to prevent harassment of constitutional functionaries. Importantly, issuing notices does not establish that the provision is unconstitutional. The law remains operational pending judicial examination. Ultimately, the constitutional challenge concerns balancing institutional independence with accountability. Democratic institutions derive credibility not merely from autonomy but from their continued answerability to constitutional principles.

The Diaspora Dividend: How Indian Communities Strengthen Global Ties

The Indian diaspora has ceased to be merely an overseas extension of the nation; it has become a strategic constituency in India's engagement with the world. Numbering more than 35 million people, it constitutes the world's largest diaspora and operates as a durable network of capital, competence, culture and political goodwill across continents. Its contribution to global relations, however, should be assessed not through sentimental claims of belonging, but through its measurable capacity to deepen economic interdependence, institutional collaboration and mutual understanding.

Economic Statecraft

The most visible expression of this dividend is financial. Overseas Indians remitted a record $135.46 billion in 2024-25, a 14 per cent increase over the previous year, reaffirming India's position as the world's leading recipient of remittances. These flows are not simply private transfers; they stabilise household consumption, finance education and health, strengthen foreign-exchange reserves and provide a counter-cyclical cushion during global economic uncertainty.

Yet the diaspora's economic significance extends beyond remittances. Indian-origin professionals and entrepreneurs occupy leadership positions in technology, finance, pharmaceuticals, academia and public administration, creating channels for investment, innovation and market access. Their presence in multinational corporations and research institutions facilitates knowledge transfer and reinforces India's credibility in global scientific and commercial networks.

Diplomacy and Soft Power

Diasporic communities also perform an informal diplomatic function. Indian-origin citizens and legislators in the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, Singapore and the Gulf states help interpret India's interests within host-country political systems, while also promoting people-to-people familiarity that formal diplomacy alone cannot generate. This influence must be handled with care: diaspora advocacy should complement, not substitute for, official foreign policy, and India must avoid conflating the identities of its citizens abroad with the strategic objectives of the state.

Dr Mahammad Ghouse Shaik

A Blogger and Columnist

Culturally, the diaspora has made Indian languages, cuisine, cinema, yoga, festivals and philosophical traditions part of global public life. Such cultural circulation enhances India's soft power, but its value lies in reciprocity. A mature diaspora policy should encourage overseas Indians to act as bridges between societies–promoting pluralism, professional exchange and educational collaboration–rather than as instruments of narrow nationalism.

Knowledge and Global Citizenship

The diaspora's intellectual contribution is perhaps its most underappreciated asset. Indian-origin scientists, physicians, engineers, academics and policy specialists are embedded in universities, hospitals, think tanks and international organisations worldwide. Their work strengthens research partnerships, expands opportunities for Indian students and scholars, and lends practical substance to initiatives in digital public infrastructure, climate cooperation, health security and skills mobility.

Recent initiatives to internationalise Indian higher education, attract foreign students and build cross-border academic partnerships can gain considerably from this global knowledge network. Education diplomacy, when anchored in credible institutions and mutual benefit, can convert diaspora goodwill into long-term strategic partnerships.

A Critical Agenda

The diaspora dividend is real, but it is neither automatic nor unconditional. India must protect migrant workers–particularly in the Gulf–from exploitation, ensure accessible consular services, and create secure legal frameworks for skilled mobility. It must also move beyond ceremonial engagement toward institutional mechanisms that enable diaspora investment, philanthropy, research collaboration and return migration.

The strength of the Indian diaspora lies not in its size alone, but in its ability to connect India to the world through trust, talent and transaction. If India treats its overseas communities as partners in a shared global project, the diaspora can become one of the most consequential assets in its contemporary diplomacy.

A Public Backlash Against Trump's Policies

The November 2026 US midterm elections highlight growing public discontent over economic hardships, immigration policies and governance, underscoring democracy's power to demand accountability from leaders. by Dr. Kolahalam Ramkishore.

The November 2026 midterm elections in the United States have dealt a severe political blow to President Donald Trump and his Republican Party. Barely two years after his emphatic victory in the 2024 presidential election, which had given Republicans a favourable position in both chambers of Congress, the political tide appears to have turned against him. The Democrats' gains in the House of Representatives and the Senate reflect growing public disenchantment with the Trump administration. These results, however, should not be viewed merely as a victory for one party and a defeat for another, but as a powerful reminder of the electorate's ability to hold those in power accountable in a functioning democracy.

In the 2024 presidential election, Trump secured 312 electoral votes against Kamala Harris's 226. He also won 49.8 per cent of the popular vote, compared with Harris's 48.3 per cent. In the 119th Congress, Republicans held 53 seats in the Senate, while Democrats had 45, with two seats occupied by independents. Republicans also enjoyed a narrow majority in the House, providing Trump with considerable legislative support. However, according to preliminary results reported on November 4, 2026, Democrats secured 54 Senate seats against the Republicans' 44 and also moved into a leading position in the House.

The state-wise results are particularly revealing. Democrats wrested Senate seats in Iowa, Kansas, Texas, Ohio, North Carolina and South Carolina, all of which had voted for Trump in 2024. They also retained their advantage in Maine, which had supported Harris. The Democratic gains in traditionally Republican strongholds such as Iowa and Kansas suggest a perceptible erosion of Trump's political influence. Nevertheless, Republicans managed to retain their dominance in conservative states such as Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Wyoming.

Economic discontent appears to have been the principal factor behind the Republican setback. Voters who expected relief from inflation, rising prices of essential commodities, housing rents and healthcare costs have seen little meaningful improvement. Although the administration has defended its import tariffs, particularly those imposed on China, as necessary to protect American industries, concerns have mounted that the additional costs are ultimately being passed on to consumers. An Associated Press voter survey indicated that nearly 40 per cent identified the economy as their primary concern, while approximately 60 per cent expressed anxiety over the rising cost of everyday necessities.

Trump's confrontational foreign policy, military tensions with Iran and disagreements with NATO allies have further fuelled public unease. His stringent measures against immigration, pursued in the name of border control, have also attracted widespread criticism. The growing support for Democrats among younger voters and Hispanic communities presents another challenge for Republicans. Moreover, the tendency to select candidates primarily on the basis of personal loyalty to the President, rather than their ability to address local concerns, appears to have weakened the party's electoral appeal.

The immediate consequence of the Democratic gains will be greater legislative resistance to Trump's agenda. Although the President can veto legislation passed by Congress, a two-thirds majority in both chambers can override such a veto. The Democratic advantage is likely to complicate the administration's efforts on budgets, taxation, immigration, government expenditure and key appointments. Congressional scrutiny, investigations and oversight of executive decisions are also expected to intensify.

Yet, the Democratic victory should not be mistaken for an overwhelming endorsement of the party's own political agenda. Opposition to Trump appears to have been the principal driving force behind the electoral verdict. Whether Trump chooses confrontation with the opposition or undertakes a course correction to address the concerns of ordinary Americans will shape his political fortunes over the next two years.

The message from these elections extends far beyond American shores: electoral rhetoric, presidential bravado and nationalist slogans cannot substitute for economic security, democratic values and accountable governance. Ultimately, the true measure of a government's success lies not in the grandeur of its promises, but in its ability to improve the lives of its people.

Poverty reduction demands more than statistics

The World Bank's reported decline in extreme poverty from 27% to 2.6% deserves recognition, but statistics alone cannot reflect actual living conditions. A monthly income of approximately Rs 8,700 for five family members hardly guarantees dignity. India's position in the Global Hunger Index and persistent child malnutrition highlight continuing challenges. Widening income disparities further expose economic inequalities. Genuine poverty reduction must ensure stable employment, affordable healthcare, nutritious food and quality education, allowing every citizen to enjoy meaningful economic and social security.

Political promises raise questions over accountability

The BJP's promise to stop infiltration after winning the Bengal Assembly election surprised me, since securing international borders is primarily the Central government's responsibility, where the party already held power. Its subsequent "Save Democracy" campaign raises another interesting question about political accountability. Such campaigns may serve political purposes, but citizens also expect governments to fulfil their existing responsibilities. The situation reminds me of an imaginary campaign by pharmaceutical manufacturers demanding cheaper medicines while overlooking their own role in determining prices.

BHILAI: Following directives from the Pradesh Congress Committee, the District Congress Committee (Durg City) is set to organize public outreach meetings–"Jan Chaupal"–across all mandals, municipal wards, and booths under its 'Vote Bachao, Desh Bachao' campaign.

Announcing the initiative during a party meeting at Rajiv Bhavan, District President Dheeraj Bakliwal stated that mandal-level dialogues will take place from November 11 to 15, followed by ward- and booth-level interactive gatherings from November 16 to 25. Senior party leaders have been designated as in-charges across the city's 10 mandals. AICC in-charge Rajesh Thakur and former cabinet minister Ravindra Choubey will also attend these sessions to engage directly with residents. Targeting the ruling BJP, Bakliwal alleged large-scale electoral manipulation, claiming that millions of voter names were arbitrarily deleted under the guise of system rationalisation to influence outcomes in states like Maharashtra, Haryana, and West Bengal. Demanding fresh elections, he accused the central government of authoritarianism for refusing to replace Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar despite unified opposition demands. Local party cadres, booth committee members, and senior functionaries will actively mobilize citizens during the campaign to highlight these allegations.

India beat Japan 4-1 to clinch sixth Asian Champions Trophy title

Defending champions India staged a remarkable second-half comeback to defeat Japan 4-1, securing their sixth Asian Champions Trophy hockey title and completing a historic hat-trick of consecutive triumphs.

Press Trust Of India

Shilanand Lakra, Dilpreet Singh, Jugraj Singh and Vivek Sagar Prasad score crucial goals.

MOHALI: Defending champions India beat Japan 4-1 in the final to register a hat-trick of titles and sixth crown overall at the men's Asian Champions Trophy hockey tournament here on Thursday.

Asian Games gold medallists India had earlier won the tournament in 2011, 2016, 2018, 2023 and 2024.

It was, however, Japan who stunned the Indian team in the third minute by scoring a field goal through Kazumasa Matsumoto.

India got their acts together afterwards and scored through Shilannd Lakra (42nd minute) from a penalty corner, Dipreet Singh (48th) from a field play and Jugraj from yet another set piece in the 53rd minute. Vivek Sagar Prasad made it 4-1 for the home team in the 54th minute.

India had earlier defeated Japan 4-1 in the round-robin stage of the tournament at the Olympian Surjit Singh Stadium in Jalandhar.

But on Thursday, Japan gave India a tough fight in the first two quarters, though the home side came back strongly in the second half.

India started on a bright note but it was Japan who took the lead against the run of play in the third minute through Matsumoto, who scored with a tomahawk to stun the hosts in front of a packed crowd at the Olympian Balbir Singh Stadium.

The Indians, thereafter, showed urgency and created a few chances but lacked the final finishing.

Japan secured two back-to-back penalty corners in the 20th minute but the Indian defence was up to the task to deny Japan skipper Raiki Fujishima.

Vice-captain Hardik Singh, who featured in his 200th international match on Thursday, was the star in India's midfield, linking up the defence and with forward line to create chances.

Jarmanpreet Singh, on the other hand, was rock solid in defence with his brilliant work ethic.

Trailing 0-1, the Indians came out with more purpose after the change of ends and secured their first penalty corner in the 33rd minute but skipper Harmanpreet Singh's flick was blocked by Japanese goalkeeper Kisho Kuroda.

The Japanese continued to impress, earning their second penalty corner in the 39th minute but Shota Yamada's effort did not produce any goal.

India kept up the pressure on the Japanese defence and secured back-to-back penalty corners in the 42nd minute, and Lakra equalised from a rebound after being fed by Aditya Arjun Lalage.

India continued their domination in the final quarter and Dilpreet gave the home side the lead in the 48th minute with a reverse hit after being brilliantly set up by Hardik.

India were a completely different side once they took the lead. They extended the lead in the 53rd minute when Jugraj converted India's third penalty corner with precision.

There was no stopping India thereafter as Vivek scored from the top of the circle with a fierce hit after Lakra's initial shot was saved by the Japanese goalkeeper.

Just 12 seconds from the final hooter, Japan secured their fourth penalty corner but skipper Fujishima's effort went wide as India remained unbeaten in the tournament.
